P R E F A C E

The Adams, Baker, Evans records herein are the accumulation of some thirty five years search and saving of photographs, interviews and kodak work. The beginning was in 1900 when Mariam Helms, the second wife of James Evans of Dresden, Ohio and Marshalltown, Iowa, during a visit, gave the author much data of the early Ohio settlements of these three family groups whose destinies were much joined by marriage.

It is notable that certain members of each of these families came into prominence. Several of the Adams were in the Ohio Legislature. Milton Evans and Col. Thomas Baker in the Iowa and Col. Baker also in the California legislature. They also were extensive land owners and promoters of settlement, of which more is recorded in the text. Milton Evans and Col. Thomas Baker both wrote and saw enacted laws which stand after more than half a century. Milton Evans was offered the Presidency of Iowa State College when it was being established at Ames but declined for lack, as he said, of sufficient education. Those who knew him said he was natively endowed a very kind and capable man. The ancestors of these men came from Virginia into Ohio and then west.

The following section of an ancestral chart is included to illustrate an excellent method of keeping records. There are several forms one other being the Connecticut fan chart. This square form where each column is a generation and with available pictures inserted as above, is in the best position to see and understand.

I would like to urge upon thinking people generally, as I have done in former genealogies, that they make and preserve the records of all the older members of their families for every old person carries a fund of family history that will be lost to their descendants if not made into a record of permanent form, and these records will be much sought after by future generations. The publishing of family records is a rather thankless task and a matter of expense because of the limited sales, but to my mind a better tribute of honor and respect than shafts of marble. Hence this labor of love and devotion that these records of the Adams, Evans, Baker pioneers may be handed down to succeeding generations.

Ames, Iowa, December 1, 1935

EZRA CORNELIUS POTTER.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem. It is shown that the problem is of great importance in the theory of differential equations.

2. In the second part, we consider the case of a linear differential equation. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

3. In the third part, we consider the case of a nonlinear differential equation. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

4. In the fourth part, we consider the case of a system of differential equations. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

5. In the fifth part, we consider the case of a partial differential equation. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

6. In the sixth part, we consider the case of a boundary value problem. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

7. In the seventh part, we consider the case of a problem with initial conditions. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

8. In the eighth part, we consider the case of a problem with boundary conditions. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

9. In the ninth part, we consider the case of a problem with initial and boundary conditions. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

10. In the tenth part, we consider the case of a problem with initial conditions and boundary conditions. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

11. In the eleventh part, we consider the case of a problem with initial conditions and boundary conditions. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

12. In the twelfth part, we consider the case of a problem with initial conditions and boundary conditions. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

13. In the thirteenth part, we consider the case of a problem with initial conditions and boundary conditions. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

14. In the fourteenth part, we consider the case of a problem with initial conditions and boundary conditions. It is shown that the problem is solvable in this case.

FROM THE 1875 ATLAS OF MUSKINGUM CO., O.

The first settlers who sought homes among the hills of Adams township, came from Virginia before 1808. The land warrants often showed a wearied pioneer, a wooded hill upon the side of which he built a cabin & began the work of clearing. Among the pioneers of Licking Township were Joseph & Ephraim Baker. In Salem township the 1st pioneer was 1 mile south of Adamsville, about 1800, town laid out by M. Adams about 1832, 11 miles N. of Zanesville. In the Civil war records are the names in 122nd Reg., Co.I, Denton & Jasper Adams, 76th Reg. Co.A., Jay & Howard Adams. Adams twp. was formed in 1824 and named for John Quincy Adams then candidate for President. In Salem twp. Wm.A.Adams had 228 A. of land. Wm.V.Adams 166 A & G.P.Adams 120 A. all near Adamsville. Wm. Walter Evans, Born Dec.30, 1830, in Muskingum Co., Ohio, emigrated to Aledo, Ill. in 1856, June 16, left Ill. for Pikes Peak in 1860, April 22, and started back home Nov.22, arriving Jan. 24, 1861.

On this trip he was accompanied by whom he calls the Scott boys & Waterbury, sailed on the Steamer Emma from New Boston, took cars at Montrose to go over Rapids, sailed 200 miles on the Missouri in Steamer Omaha for Plattsmouth, river crooked, muddy & snaggy. Went 2 miles out of town for camp, tent blew down in storm. He told of many hardships endured but did not seem to regard them as we would today, had a several days' siege of measles, but traveled every day, with ponies that sometimes escaped from camp and had to spend much time in search for them. Occasionally killed elk or deer, also wild turkey (and rattlesnakes), often suffered for water & grass for ponies, and slept on open prairie, cooking with dry grass for fuel. In June and July he reports lots of snow & frozen ground where they were prospecting near Pikes Peak, getting from $1.00 to $25.00 per day and going from one place to another sometimes just leaving staked claims, and once selling one for $32.50. Could not hear from home often, mentions many names of men encountered in the mining districts but do not think they mean anything to the rest of us. Speaks of 4000 Indians gathered near Fort Kearney rather hostile & troops called out, a few being killed during which time the Democratic press was suppressed by Republicans of Atchison.

I believe we moved from Aledo, Ill. to Nevada, Ia. late in '65 or early in '66. I find no record of it. Uncle Milton (322) and family already had been living there, the brothers trapped and worked as day laborers until our family moved to Ames in Sept. 1872. Father (320) took the contract for building snow fence to Boone on the R.R. that was being built out of Ames west, shipped prairie chickens (See Ed Adams note), quail and rabbits in spare time, signed contract March 30, 1867 for fence, Aug.19, 1867 the brothers (320 & 322) rented a warehouse in Ames and began buying and shipping grain, mostly wheat as a starter, moved into my own home Nov. 5, 1868, Aug. 22 sold my interest in warehouse to B.F.Adams (11) (but see no record of when it was bought), they added shipping of butter, eggs, poultry, etc. to the business. Item on Dec. 27 "Went hunting, some cuss stole deer". I forget just when Uncle B.F.A. (11) came to Ames but remember that Minnie was a baby about 6 months old, and I enjoyed lugging her around. 1872 March 4, Milton (322) on grand jury. Work on elevator started Nov.2,1872. (Yr.'73 missing) Business closed out in 1875 & Uncle Milton (322) started May 31,1876 for gold fields of Colorado. Aug.18 started in grain business again, Dec.15 Milton (322) came home. March 12 Gene Palmatier (355) started for California to find work.

In May, 1882, Father (320), Mother, Jennie (357), Lee (354), myself with 2 children, Mabel (76) and Winnifred (77), moved to Colorado. Gunnison City being the end of the R.R. at that time we traveled 300 miles by stage and the difficult mountainous end of journey by mules and wagon. Living expenses very high but times pretty good with wages @ $4.00 per day. Father (320) bought hotel in Ames Col. & kept general store and Post Office, moving to Placerville in 1886 engaging in same business there. Uncle Milton (322) continued in mining business and was married to his second wife, Nellie Wilson (322)(widow) June 5 at Durango. Serena Adams (24) came to Iowa before we did, his first wife having died April 12, 1867. I find something to show that B.F.Adams came to Iowa 1st in 1867 and 2nd in 1868.

JOHN J. ADAMS

John J. Adams, a practitioner at the Muskingum county bar and for six years judge of the fifth judicial circuit of Ohio, was born on the 18th day of November, 1860, on his father's farm near Dresden, this state, his parents being the late George Willson and Mary J. R. Adams. His early education was obtained in the district schools and was continued in the high school at Dresden and the high school at Zanesville, being graduated from the latter institution with the class of June, 1875. His more specifically literary education was acquired in Kenyon College, at Gambier, Ohio, which he entered in the fall of 1875, completing the course there by graduation with the class of 1879. Through the succeeding three years he engaged in teaching in Harcourt Place Academy, at Gambier, Ohio, a private boarding school for boys, and in September, 1880, he entered upon the study of law under the direction of the Hon. Moses M. Granger, of Zanesville. Following his careful preliminary reading he was admitted to the Ohio bar, January 2, 1883, entering upon the practice of his chosen profession in partnership with Col. Gilbert D. Munson, under the firm name of Munson & Adams, which relation was maintained from the spring of 1883 until November, 1893, when Colonel Munson was elected to the common pleas bench.

The following year Mr. Adams received the republican nomination for judge of the fifth circuit court of Ohio, and was elected in November by a plurality of eight thousand eight hundred and ninety-four. The fifth circuit is composed of the counties of Ashland, Richland, Wayne, Stark, Morrow, Delaware, Licking, Knox, Holmes, Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Muskingum, Morgan, Fairfield and Perry. Judge Adams was the first republican judge elected to the circuit bench in this circuit, large democratic majorities having previously been given. He served on the bench for the full term of six years, from February 9, 1895, until February 9, 1901.

On the 26th of October, 1892, Judge Adams was married to Miss Dora May Black, the only daughter of Thomas and Cornelia (Van Ham) Black. Mrs. Adams died October 27, 1904.

GEORGE C. ADAMS

George C. Adams, who stands at the head of the George C. Adams Lumber Company of Dresden, was born in Madison township about three miles from this village, June 19, 1846. His paternal grandfather, Littleton Adams, was a pioneer settler of Muskingum county, coming to Ohio from Fauquier county, Virginia, about 1797 or 1798. Few were the settlers who had located here and the district seemed cut off from all the comforts and conveniences of the older east but he concentrated his energies upon the establishment of a home and assisted materially in the early development and upbuilding of the county. He followed the occupation of farming and eventually gained a comfortable competence. He made his journey to Ohio in a wagon drawn by six horses and was accompanied by his family, consisting of his wife and nine children, namely: George, Zachariah, John, Benjamin, Samuel, Littleton, Alfred, Maria and Julia. Maria, who was the second in order of birth in the family, carried her brother, Zachariah, in her arms, while riding a horse across the Allegheny mountains.

Littleton Adams settled in Madison township upon land which he secured from the government and which he cleared and converted into a fine farm. There he lived for many years eventually passing away at a ripe old age. He took a very active interest in politics, giving his support to the whig party. He served his country in the war of 1812, being a paymaster in the army.

Zachariah Adams, son of Littleton Adams, was born in Fauquier county, Virginia, but was reared to manhood in Madison township, Muskingum county, Ohio. He managed to acquire a good education for those days and when a young man engaged in teaching school. He was one of the early justices of the peace and also served as sheriff of Muskingum county in pioneer times when it required a brave and resolute man to fill that position. He was also prominent and influential in military circles and he served as a colonel in the old militia. He was active in political affairs, possessed much influence and was well known throughout the county. His power was always exercised in behalf of improvement, progress and upbuilding and his efforts therefore proved of much value to his locality. When he was about forty years of age his health failed him and he took a six-months sea voyage to Cuba. He was married late in life to Miss Harriet Williams, who was born in Milford, Clermont county, Ohio, a daughter of Dr. William Williams of that county, who was one of the leading citizens at an early day. Dr. Williams was born in Pennsylvania about 1791 and coming to this state entered upon the practice of medicine in a frontier district, his professional labors demanding that he take long drives through inclement weather and meet hardships and discomforts in practicing the healing art. He died in Clermont county at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. Zachariah Adams passed away at the age of sixty-two years. He was a man of marked individuality, constantly broadening his knowledge through reading and study and his love of books was indicated by the extensive library which he accumulated. He always kept informed on all matters of church and state and was thoroughly conversant with the great issues before the country. In early life he gave his political allegiance to the whig party and later was a staunch republican. He was bitterly opposed to slavery, becoming a staunch advocate of abolition principles, and was a firm supporter of the government at the time of the Civil war. He was also regarded as one of the pillars of the Methodist Episcopal church in his community and he held the offices of steward, trustee and class leader. He died at the age of sixty-two years, honored and respected by all who knew him. He was fearless in conduct, loyal to the right and a recognized champion of everything that he believed would contribute to the general good or to the welfare of the community. As his fame spread abroad his children find that his name was a passport wherever he was known. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Zachariah Adams were born the following named children: Martha and Anna, now deceased; George C.; Euphemia, deceased; Virginia; Howard; Thomas; and William, who is living in Zanesville.

George C. Adams, reared in Muskingum county, is indebted to its public school system for the educational privileges he enjoyed. He was but seventeen years of age when, his spirit of patriotism having been aroused, he enlisted on the 17th of June, 1863, becoming a member of Company H. First Virginia Light Artillery. He participated in two battles at New Creek, Virginia, and there on the 28th of October, 1864, he was captured, together with seven hundred Union soldiers, who were surprised by the Confederates, the rebel troops having dressed themselves in the blue uniform of the north. Mr. Adams was then taken to Libby prison where he was incarcerated from November, 1864, until March 1, 1865, and his sufferings amidst the horrors of a rebel prison reduced him in weight from one hundred and sixty-five to ninety pounds, so that he seemed a walking skeleton when he at length obtained his release. The prison then housed about one thousand Union troops and they received very scanty rations -- a small piece of corn bread, about one and a half inches square, and a piece of salt pork about the same size constituting their morning meal. Nothing more was served to them until night when they were furnished with a similar repast, save that about a half pint of bean soup took the place of the pork. They slept on the floor of the prison at night with nothing to cover them but their own clothing and Mr. Adams considered himself fortunate in finding a brick which he used as a pillow. It required a year after his release to recover from the prison exposure and hardships and in fact he has never since enjoyed the same health that he did before he made this sacrifice for his country. Not long after he was discharged from the prison the war was over and he returned to his home.

When he had sufficiently recovered his health Mr. Adams resumed agricultural pursuits, carrying on farming on his father's old homestead for two years. In 1867 he became connected with the lumber industry, embarking in the sawmill business. He had a portable sawmill which he took to all parts of the county and in 1868 he went to Story county, Iowa, but soon afterward returned to Muskingum county and here embarked in merchandising at Symmes Creek. For four years he conducted a store and in 1872 he sold out there after which he was engaged in business for a year at Adam's Mill. He next purchased and operated a grist mill at Symmes Creek and in 1876 he removed to Frazesburg where he engaged in the grocery business for two years. Later he was connected with the lumber trade at that place until 1892, when he came to Dresden and here embarked in the lumber business as a partner of C. M. Haas. Since 1902 he has been alone in business and his plant is operated under the name of the George C. Adams Lumber Company. He owns two lots and a large planing mill and manufactures all kinds of building materials. He has a large lumber yard and his sales annually reach extensive figures.

On the 1st of February, 1872, Mr. Adams was united in marriage to Miss Minnie A. Thompson, a native of Noble county, Ohio, who was reared in Madison township, Muskingum county, and is a daughter of James and Sarah Thompson. Her father was a merchant of Noble county, but subsequently removed to Texas, where he died about 1886. He was born in Pennsylvania and was of German lineage. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Adams have been born the following named: W. W. and Stella, now deceased; Blanch, who became the wife of L. R. Coberson, of Zanesville, and died at the age of twenty-four years; Herbert, a member of the United States Army with the Ninth Regiment of Coast Artillery; Wheeler, who is a member of the same command; and Seth, who is employed by the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley Railroad Company.

Mr. Adams is a republican and while residing in Frazesburg served as mayor of the city for three terms and was also justice of the peace there. He belongs to the Grand Army of the Republic and he and his wife are members of the Presbyterian church.

JEROME W. BAKER

Jerome W. Baker, the president of the People's Banking Company, of Frazesburg, who is also connected with mercantile and other business interests of the town, was born in Dresden, Muskingum county, December 13, 1855.

His father, William Baker, was a native of New Jersey and after reaching adult age married Miss Sarah A. Walker, a daughter of Squire Walker, one of the early and influential citizens of Dresden, who served as justice of the peace there. In his political views he was originally a whig and later a republican. His daughter, Mrs. Baker, was born in Dresden and in February, 1905, celebrated her eighty-fourth birthday. William Baker, coming to Ohio when a young man, located in Dresden where he engaged in the hardware business and he was also interested in the iron industry of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. He was a man just and generous in his business relations, being never known to take advantage of the necessities of his fellow men in any trade transaction. He died at the age of fifty-eight years. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Baker were born five children: Sarah H., the wife of David McNaught, a farmer of Jackson township; Mrs. Anna McQuigg, of Muskingum township; Melvina, wife of William McNaught, a farmer of Jackson township; Albert, who is engaged in blacksmithing in Frazesburg; and Jerome W. The father was a republican.

Jerome W. Baker attended the public schools of Dresden and spent a part of his boyhood days on the home farm, but later he engaged in clerking for Herbert Smallwood of Dresden, with whom he remained for a year and a half. He clerked for I. W. Ewing for three years and in 1875, with a small capital, began business on his own account in a little building in Frazesburg which has since been destroyed by fire. In 1885 he purchased his present building on State street, a two-story structure, twenty-five by seventy-five feet, with basement. Here he has been very successful as a merchant, building up the largest business of its kind in the town. In 1902 the People's Banking Company of Frazesburg was organized, Mr. Baker being one of the original incorporators. He was elected a director and the vice president of the company, with J. G. Hamilton as president and Samuel Frazier as cashier, while J. M. Frazier and T. L. Bennett, in addition to the officers, constituted the board of directors. In 1903 the bank was re-organized, with the following officers: J. W. Baker, president; T. L. Bennett, vice president; and Samuel Frazier, cashier. These gentlemen, together with James Frazier, F. Fleming and Samuel Parks are directors. The bank is capitalized for twenty-five thousand dollars and the deposits amount to one hundred thousand. Mr. Baker is also a stockholder in the old Citizens Bank of Zanesville; a director and stockholder in the Roseville Pottery Company of Zanesville; and the owner of considerable real estate in Frazesburg.

Mr. Baker has been married twice. He wedded Mary A. Patton, who died leaving a daughter Inez. Later he married Miss Bessie Mendenhall, a native of Jackson township and a daughter of R. P. Mendenhall, a prominent retired farmer of the county. There are two children by this marriage: Roy E. and Walter J.

Mr. Baker votes with the republican party and has served as a member of the council of Frazesburg and also on the school board. He belongs to the Presbyterian church.

FRANK P. LANE

Frank P. Lane, who is carrying on general farming in Muskingum, his native township, was born April 12, 1853, his parents being John M. and Martha (Bland) Lane. The father was born in Baltimore county, Maryland, in 1811, and came to Muskingum county in 1815 with his father John Lane. The grandfather cast in his lot with the early settlers and prepared for an agricultural life by entering one hundred and sixty acres of land from the government, on which he established his home and continued his residence until his death, which occurred when he was eighty-seven years of age. He worked persistently and energetically as the years passed by and in course of time developed a good farm. In his family were nine children.

John M. Lane remained upon the old homestead farm until 1858. He was reared to the work of tilling the soil and he continued to carry on the old home place until the year mentioned when he traded that property for two hundred and forty acres of land, known as the old Grundy Taylor place. (See Picture) The former owner had built a fine mansion on the crest of the hill making it the most commanding residence in the township, and to this beautiful home Mr. Lane removed his family. In early manhood he had wedded Miss Martha Bland, a daughter of John Bland, one of the early settlers of the county, who came from Virginia in pioneer times and took up his abode in what is now West Zanesville. They became the parents of eleven children of whom two died in infancy, while the others were: Francis M., who became the wife of Jasper Welch and is now deceased; Bland, Nancy Ellen, William and Victoria, all of whom have passed away; Elmer, the wife of James McDonald of Muskingum township; L. H., of Muskingum township; Nettie, the wife of George Butler, a resident of Kansas City, Missouri; and Frank P. The father was prominent and influential in public affairs and his fellow townsmen recognizing his worth and ability frequently called him to office. He served as county treasurer for two terms during the period of the Civil war, was justice of the peace for many years, was also township clerk and treasurer and in 1853 was appraiser of the county. His business affairs were capably managed and his enterprise resulted in the acquirement of a fine farm which at the time of his death comprised more than three hundred acres. He departed this life April 16, 1900, and his wife passed away June 17, 1884.

Frank P. Lane is today the owner of two hundred and forth acres of the old homestead farm and in addition to the cultivation of the cereals best adapted to soil and climate he also raises cattle, sheep and hogs. In addition to his home property Mr. Lane owns one hundred and five acres on the Dresden road.

On the 10th of September, 1879, occurred the marriage of Frank P. Lane and Miss Mary A. Evans, a daughter of Julius Evans, who died while serving his country in the Civil war. Her mother, however, is still living and is now a member of the Lane household. Unto our subject and his wife have been born seven children: Roy, who died at the age of four months; Fred, who is living in Kansas City; Jessie May and Ralph E., at home; Martha and John W., who are attending school; and Mary, who is five years old and completes the family.

Fraternally Mr. Lane is a Mason, belonging to Irville Lodge, No. 103, A.F. & A.M. In politics he is a democrat and has served as school director for five years.

GEORGE W. ADAMS

George W. Adams and his father's family were among the earliest settlers of Muskingum county. Leaving the beautiful Virginia home in Fauquier county because of his strong abolition views and believing implicitly in the doctrine "that all men are born free and equal" -- an idea which had few followers among Virginia slave-holders of that day -- he gave his slaves their freedom and sought a new home in a state where men were not held in bondage and where thought was free.

George Willson Adams, the youngest child of George Adams, came with his father to Ohio in 1808, being at that time nearly eight years of age. They settled in Madison township and spent their remaining days in Muskingum county. About the year 1828 George W. Adams and his brother Edward built a large flouring mill at the place that became known as Adams Mills, this being the first enterprise of that character in all that section of the country. A little later they built another large mill near the town of Dresden. These at once proved of inestimable value to the people of that locality for hitherto they had to go very long distances in order to have their grain ground into bread stuffs. The Adams brothers also engaged in merchandising in those days according to the primitive methods of the time, going east for goods which they shipped by canal to Ohio for there were then no railroads in this part of the country. They also shipped grain and flour by flatboat to New Orleans, George W. Adams often going himself by flatboats down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and returning to the north with provisions which were needed in the new settlement.

During the Civil war George W. Adams gave much of his means to help the cause of the north and to preserve the union of the states, for the united country was very dear to him and he rejoiced greatly in the triumph of the Union armies. His public-spiritedness was also shown in the aid which he gave to the railroads, giving many miles of the right of way to both the Panhandle and the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley railroad companies through his lands. He became a director of both railroad companies, acting in that capacity from the time of the building of their lines until his death. Together with several other prominent citizens he formed a stock company to build a suspension bridge across the Muskingum river near Dresden. When the other members of the company became fearful that the plan was not feasible and that they would lose money, George W. Adams built a bridge at his own expense, his nephew, George Copeland, being the engineer. This was conducted as a toll bridge for a number of years and then he sold it to the county commissioners for one-third of the original cost to him. He gave most liberally to the Episcopal church at Dresden, of which he was for many years a member. He gave the ground on which the church and rectory were built besides contributing to the erection of both.

Mr. Adams was likewise prominent in political circles and at one time served as a member of the general assembly of Ohio.

Mr. Adams was twice married and passed away August 31, 1879, survived by his wife and seven children. The eldest, Anna, is now the wife of William Cox and resides upon the old homestead near Dresden. Mary Adams lives with her sister Anna. Elizabeth is the wife of Mordecai T. Endicott and resides in Washington, D. C., her husband being rear admiral in the United States navy and recently appointed by President Roosevelt to the position of engineer on the Panama canal commission. Sophia resides in Zanesville with her mother. Charles W. is living in St. Paul, Minnesota. Jessie is the wife of Frank E. Huggins of Columbus. John J. Adams, living in Zanesville, is a well known attorney, who formerly served upon the bench. Mrs. Adams resides at No. 1146 Maple Avenue in Zanesville, where she has a beautiful home and although seventy-three years of age she is well preserved. The circle of her friends is extensive for like her husband she is esteemed by all who have known her.

No history of Muskingum county would be complete without mention of the Hon. George W. Adams, who was for many years a leading citizen of this part of the state.

H. H. ADAMS

H. H. Adams, one of Madison township's most prosperous farmers and stock raisers, was born November 19, 1852, on the old Adams homestead in that township. His parents are Zachariah and Harriett (Williams) Adams. The former was born in Virginia and with his parents came from the Old Dominion to Muskingum county in 1807, the family home being established in Madison township, where the grandfather spent his remaining days. He purchased one thousand acres of land and was a prominent and respected citizen of his community. He commanded a regiment of the state militia and was always known as Colonel Adams. He lived to be sixty-four years of age, while his wife was seventy-five years of age at the time of her demise. They reared a family of seven children, of whom five are yet living.

H. H. Adams was educated in the common schools, at Concord College and in Dresden and later engaged in teaching school for eight or nine terms, being today the owner of one hundred and eighteen acres of rich and productive land, the greater part of which lies in the beautiful valley and is very fertile.

Mr. Adams was united in marriage to Miss Lizzie Adolph, who was born June 18, 1859, and is a daughter of Valentine and Margaret Adams, who came from Germany to the new world and established their home in Muskingum county. Mr. and Mrs. Adams have three daughters; Mabel, born April 6, 1894; Ruby, born November 9, 1896; and Flora, born December 31, 1899.

Camp Distribution

Dear Parents:

I have just returned from church and heard Gregg speak and eat my dinner. I now take the opportunity to write you a few lines to inform you that I am well at present and hope these few may find you enjoying the same. I would like to see you all before I left but I had not time to come up. We left Columbus last Tuesday about noon and ran to Belair there we crossed the Ohio River in a boat and took the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. We went through Uartins and through Harpers ferry and arrived in Washington city Thursday night and stayed there until morning the next day we crossed Potomac on a bridge which is about one mile and a half long. We march on to Camp Distribution which is about five or six miles from the city. This is a beautiful place with a nice pine grove around it. It is a large camp I do not know how long we will stay here but we may stay here a while and drill. We had a very pleasant ride traveled night and day had hay in the cars to sleep on and we rode on top of the cars in the day time so we could have a fair chance to see the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as the crookedest road I ever saw. It winds around the streams like a snake crawling. Great mountains on each side we run through some 10 or 12 tunnels. Harpers ferry is situated on the Potomac river where the Shenandoah River enters in it. It was a nice little place before the Rebels burnt it but they are rebuilding very fast. They done a great deal of damage there burnt some valuable bridges it looks to me like it was a hard place to take it is situated between 2 mountains and they fortified on top of one of these mountains. Washington city is a nice place but pretty scattering. I would not take a good deal for what I have all ready seen. We have had nothing to do yet. I am very well satisfied so far. If I could be with my family but it goes pretty hard to be from them. I am surrounded with all kinds of sickness but there is a great many religious people with us. I have not had but two spells for six months. The camp life may help me. If it don't they will give me a discharge but I do not think I will have any more. So no more at present. But farewell to you all and if I see you no more on earth I hope we shall meet where parting is no more.

COLONEL THOMAS BAKER

During the pioneer period of the history of California one of its foremost men was Colonel (502) Thomas Baker, the founder of Bakersfield and the original owner of the entire town site. For the difficult task of frontier up-building he was qualified by temperament and experience. He possessed in abundance the qualities characteristic of the progressive pioneer, the generosity that sacrifices its own needs for the welfare of others and the hospitality that finds a friend in every home-seeker. To an unusual degree he possessed foresight and sagacious judgment. When first he rode over the broad expanse of country where Bakersfield now stands as a commercial metropolis he pointed out the vast possibilities of the region and asserted that some day a large city would stand on this site. Further than that, he pointed out the line of a railroad and the exact point where it would pass through the Tehachapi mountains. When finally the railroad was built it was remembered by others that it followed the course of his prediction. In addition he predicted that some day oil would be produced in this valley, although it is scarcely probable that even his vivid imagination grasped the enormous magnitude of the industry in the twentieth century. With a broad and prophetic vision he united a kind-hearted helpfulness and unwearied hospitality. To strangers he was very hospitable, even when hard pressed for money himself and more than once he gave to newcomers a sack of flour when he did not have the means to buy another for his family use. Travelers were entertained in his adobe house and their horses were fed in his corral, nor was a charge ever made for feed or board. Although he had acquired large tracts of land he used these not for his own profit, but to induce others to settle thereon. Often he would donate to an industrious settler a quarter-section of land and many a time he gave away town lots to promising but poor young business men. Indeed, some of the best business locations of Bakersfield were donated by him without any pay whatever. In his intense desire to see the country settled, he gave away all of his lands with the exception of eighty acres on O street and this after his death was sold in lots by his widow. When finally death terminated his activities, November 24, 1872 (a date memorable in American history as that of the demise of Horace Greeley) the success of the town was assured and Bakersfield proudly claimed a population of five hundred souls.

The title by which Thomas Baker was known throughout all of his adult life came to him through his service as a colonel in the state militia of Ohio before he had attained his majority. Born in 1810 in Muskingum county, Ohio, he claimed as his birthplace the picturesque valley through which the Ohio canal extends and which was made famous in history on account of the identification therewith of the Rosecrans and Sheridan families as well as others of note. During youth he lived on a farm. Besides becoming familiar with agriculture he gained a practical knowledge of surveying and also studied law with the intention of making land law his specialty. Shortly after his admission to the bar he removed to Illinois, but in a short time crossed the Mississippi river into the territory of Iowa. During May of 1837 he was driven away by the Indians who burned his cabin, but in about one year he returned. In the autumn of 1838 he settled in the vicinity of the present site of Washington, Iowa. Without question he had reached a point further west than the location of any other white settler in that part of the Black Hawk purchase. Frequently he had befriended the Indians and finally, at the time of the Black Hawk uprising, they repaid his kindness to them, warning him of the coming trouble and thus saving the family while the other white settlers were massacred.

The distinction of being the first United States district attorney of the territory of Iowa came to Colonel Baker, who held the office until the adoption of the state constitution. Elected to the first legislature of the new state, on the organization of that body he was chosen president of the senate, thus becoming ex officio the first lieutenant-governor of Iowa. Subsequently he was re-elected several times to the state senate. No man had a larger share than he in the early legislation of that great commonwealth. Many of the important laws still on the statute books of Iowa were devised and drafted by him. While he was becoming prominent and successful in Iowa the love of adventure lured him to the western coast after the discovery of gold. During the fall of 1850 he arrived at Benicia, California, but after a few months he left that town for the vicinity of Stockton and during 1852 he removed to Tulare county, where he was one of the founders of the town of Visalia. There in 1857 he married Miss Ellen Alverson. Four children of that union lived to mature years. Mary E., who died May 24, 1894, was the wife of Henry A. Jastro of Bakersfield, chairman of the board of supervisors of Kern county and one of the foremost men of California. Thomas A. is now sheriff of Kern county. Nellie, Mrs. Cowgill, died in Bakersfield May 6, 1887. The only surviving daughter, Charlotte E., is the wife of John M. Jameson and resides in Bakersfield, her mother, now Mrs. Tracy, being an inmate of her home since her second widowhood.

Elected in 1855 to represent his district in the state legislature, Colonel Baker gave satisfactory service in that capacity. During 1858 he was appointed receiver of the new land office in Visalia and held the position under the administration of President Buchanan. During the legislative sessions of 1861-62 he served as senator from Fresno and Tulare counties. About that time, in partnership with Harvey Brown, he purchased the swamp land franchise granted to Montgomery Brothers, including the odd sections of all the swamp lands extending from Kern river around by the lakes and connected by sloughs, reaching northward to Fresno on the San Joaquin river. The original grant contemplated the construction of navigable canals through the entire length of the section of the state, but the plan was found impracticable and the legislature released the grantees from that part of their obligation. On September 20, 1863, Colonel Baker arrived on Kern Island with his family preparatory to commencing the work of reclamation, remarking at his arrival, "Here at last I have found a resting place and here I expect to lay my bones." The country was neither new nor strange to him. Several years before he had explored it carefully and noted its possibilities. At a glance he had realized the peculiar advantages of the country and its natural resources. From the time of his arrival until his death, November 24, 1872, he was ever ready to promote the advancement of the country and maintained an intense interest in the village which bore his name. In the early days money was scarce and supplies not too abundant, but, forgetful of self, he was ever ready to aid new-comers. Acknowledging everyone as entitled to his consideration, he never allowed a man to leave his house hungry. The strangers always received a cordial welcome. So genial was his hospitality that his guests never suspected that the stores could be exhausted nor did they realize how he denied himself in order that they might have enough. In his gifts to homesteaders he displayed greater liberality than the government itself. Being the original owner of the town site of Bakersfield, he might have acquired great wealth therefrom, but instead he donated some of the best business locations and by his liberality secured the erection of a number of the first buildings in the village. While pointing out to these pioneers how they might attain wealth, he remained indifferent to the allurements of fortune, but evinced the financial carelessness characteristic of many of the great pioneers of the west, losing sight of his own personal advancement in his patriotic devotion to the development of the country. His personal characteristics came to him as an inheritance from an honored old Virginian family of English extraction. His father, Thomas, was a soldier in the war of 1812, and his great-grandfather, Thomas, was a participant in the Revolution, while he inherited their valor and patriotic spirit, but when the Civil war came he was prevented from participation by reason of the California quota being more than full as well as by reason of his own age, which was beyond the limits of military service. However, he served his country loyally and well, although it was not his privilege to bear arms on the field of battle, but by his development of unreclaimed lands, by the building up of a community and by the advancement of progressive civic enterprises, he proved himself most loyal to the land of his nativity and the country of his adoption.

Colonel Baker's daughter, Mary E., married Henry A. Jastro, one of the foremost men of California. Three children resulted from this union, Henry A. Jastro, who married Miss Edna M. Crooks of Boston, Mass., May Greer, and Mrs. M. O. Chadbourne.

Colonel Baker's son, Thomas Alverson Baker (510) married Miss Ann Smith, born at Keyesville, Kern county. Five children resulted from this union, Thomas Tracy Baker, Francis H., Roy J., Edwin A., and Ellen. (525-530)

Colonel Baker's daughter, Charlotte E., (512) married John M. Jameson. Two children resulted from this union, Myron and Kenneth.

Colonel Baker's daughter, Nellie (511) became Mrs. Cowgill, but that is all the information listed about her. (See 511 and 535-7)

COLONEL THOMAS BAKER

Colonel Baker was born in 1810, in Zanesville, Ohio, at that time a part of Virginia, and was a direct descendant of Colonel Thomas Baker, an officer in the Revolutionary war who served on the staff of General Washington. In the paternal line he traced his ancestry back to the Bakers of the west of England, members of the nobility, whose titles extended back for several hundred years.

Thomas Baker of this review was reared and educated in the states of Ohio, Illinois and Iowa. He read law and was admitted to the bar of Ohio, and was there that he won the title of colonel through his service in the state militia. In later years he was also a member of the California state militia. In his law studies he had specialized in land law, in which he came to be regarded as an authority, and he also acquired a thorough knowledge of surveying, which work he followed for many years as occasion gave opportunity. In 1832 he went to eastern Iowa, of which locality he was one of the earliest settlers and from which he was later driven out by the Indians, while his cabin was burned to the ground. However, he had gained the confidence of some of the red men to such a degree that they warned him of the impending Black Hawk massacre, giving him time to escape. In 1838 he settled near what is now Washington, Iowa. To Colonel Baker belonged the distinction of being the first United States district attorney of the territory of Iowa, which office he held until the organization of the state government. He was elected a member of the first legislature of that state and many of the laws of the original code were suggested and drafted by him. He was chosen president of the senate, thus becoming, ex officio, the first lieutenant governor of the State of Iowa. He had a profound knowledge of the law; was an enthusiastic student of Sir William Blackstone's commentaries of the English common law, and a copy of his annotations of said work, in his own handwriting, was recently discovered. It was brought to the attention of the Boalt College of Law at Berkeley, the law department of the University of California, where its merits were instantly recognized, and it was transcribed. Several copies were issued and are in use by Berkeley students of Blackstone to this day. Colonel Baker served for many years as a member of the examining board which conducted law examinations for the earlier candidates for admission to the bar in California.

During the stirring days of 1849, as was the case with thousands of others, Colonel Baker's attention was drawn to California and in the following year he crossed the plains and located at Benicia. Later he went to Stockton and in 1852 removed to Tulare county, where he became one of the founders of Visalia, the county seat. He at once began to take an active part in local public affairs and, his ability and character being recognized, he was, in 1855, elected to the state legislature, in which he served one term. In 1858 he was appointed receiver of the new United States land office at Visalia and during 1861-62 he was again elected to the legislature, serving as Senator from Fresno and Tulare counties. Shortly afterwards, in partnership with Harvey Brown, he purchased the huge swamp land franchise owned by Montgomery brothers, including the lands along the Kern river reading north to Fresno. In September, 1863, he arrived at Kern Island to enter upon the tremendous task of reclaiming the swamp land. He was quick to recognize the future possibilities of this locality and felt that here he had found the right place for his permanent home. He prophesied with remarkable accuracy the coming of the railroads, as well as the logical routes by which they would enter the valley. Another remarkable instance of his prescience was his prophecy of the oil development, which became a fact years after his death.

Some thirty-one thousand acres of land were included in the tract designed for reclamation, and so successful was Colonel Baker in his operations that he lived to see a thriving village of five hundred people established, becoming the nucleus for the present prosperous city of Bakersfield (26,000 in 1930). He took a deep personal interest in the development of the new community and was exceedingly generous in his aid to those who located here. Many of the most eligible business sites were donated by him to those enterprising ones who were associated with him, and he ever held out a helping hand to those struggling to secure a foothold, being liberal in granting home sites to those he felt would make proper use of them. To such an extent did he go with his benefactions that in the end he had given away all but eighty acres of his land, which now lies in the heart of the city. However, he was judicious in his giving and his generosity contributed immeasurably to the up-building and advancement of the community. The city of Bakersfield was fittingly named after him. Soon after coming here he planted alfalfa, corn, beans, potatoes and other crops near the old ford across the Kern river when the city of Bakersfield is now located. Generous to a fault, he allowed immigrants to camp there and cut the alfalfa for forage, and help themselves to other food products. He would say to them: "Help yourself but don't waste anything." The green field was a veritable oasis in the wilderness, and Colonel Baker's hospitality became proverbial. Traveling immigrants were wont to say: "If we can only make Colonel Baker's field by night we shall be sure of getting food for ourselves and our stock and a place to camp." Thus, in the most natural way, the abbreviated "Bakersfield" came to denote this favored spot. A civil engineer as well as a lawyer Colonel Baker founded the city and was the author of its street system with its broad and beautiful thoroughfares. In nearly every other city that the Colonel had ever visited, the streets were only sixty-six feet wide, but he thought that too narrow, hence provided for streets eighty-two feet in width, which has become a very distinguishing feature of the city of Bakersfield.

In 1857 Colonel Baker was united in marriage to Mrs. Ellen Whalen nee Alverson, who had come to this state five years previously and who, braving the hardships and uncertainties of the new life in this then undeveloped country, became his helpmate in the truest sense of the word, assisting and encouraging him in every possible way. She was Mrs. Ellen Baker Tracy at the time of her death and is represented in a separate sketch on another page of this work.

Colonel Baker died November 24, 1872, in the sixty-third year of his life, honored and beloved by all who knew him.

THE CALL OF HOME

Warm days have come with spring again.
When meadows burst in bloom
And trees their graceful branches wave
And sunshine melts the gloom.
The flowers smile on every hand
And breathe their sweet perfume.
And tho' I've wondered far away
I yearn to be back home.

The hills put off their ermine coat
And don an emerald green
All dotted with the eager herds
That roam where grass has grown,
And in the trees that deck the hills
The birds in carols come
And I like them would know the thrills
Of singing in my home.

Oh restless heart that ever calls
Like beatings of a drum
The sounds of cheer I ever hear
That come from way back home.
Where shall I go or dwelling know
As o'er the world I roam,
That brings to me so fervently
The bells and songs of home.
